

What is Qwickly Attendance?

The Qwickly Attendance course tool in Canvas will allow instructors, course builders, and teaching assistants to take attendance in their modules. Staff can take attendance manually, and there is an option for students to check in on their own devices using a browser. The tool is integrated with Canvas where the instructor can monitor attendance. Students can also monitor their own attendance within each module. Qwickly Attendance can notify students via email when they have been marked absent.
